

Cambridge Green Party Public Engagement Internship (part-time, unpaid)

-Cambridge Based

Interested to help the Cambridge Green Party win the 2010 general election?
Passionate about meeting people and talking with them about the election?
Then this position is for you!

The Cambridge Green Party is looking for an intern to play a key role as part of our campaign team. In your role you will work to ensure that every voter recognises how special and important their contribution and vote is to the campaign. You will work closely with the campaigns team, helping roll out campaign strategy through engaging with Cambridge residents and local groups. You will gain experience in a range of aspects of political campaigning including targeted public engagement, media monitoring, campaigning, correspondence, street campaigning, producing campaign and other literature, data entry and administration.

Your role as public engagement intern will include (but is not limited to):

- Targeted engagement throughout Cambridge
- Finding a/several local heroes in each ward of the constituency
- Maintaining constant contact with your network to constantly share exciting news about the campaign
- Helping map out leafleting across the city of Cambridge
- Enhancing our engagement through online social networking sites
- Supporting members of the campaign team on various campaign specific tasks

Essential Criteria:

- A knowledge of local issues facing real people
- The gift of the gab
- Experience in working within a team, and in a supportive role
- Strong skills on Microsoft Office or Open Office programmes
- A commitment to ensuring an equitable, and sustainable future
- Ability to work unsupervised
- A basic knowledge of Green Party policy, and a commitment to building on that knowledge

Desirable Criteria:

- Experience in political campaigning
- Ability to work weekends on occasion

Your role will be between 10-15 hours per week, with the range dependent on the stage of the campaign. Start date is to be November 20, and your internship will reach its completion at the date of the general election (or May 6, if the election is called early). You will have flexible hours and a small budget for necessary expenses.

To apply for this internship, please send your CV and covering letter to cambridge@greenparty.org.uk.
Deadline for application is 5pm November 13, with interviews scheduled for Wed., November 18.
